The Traditional Latin Mass Explained

Prosper Louis Pascal Guéranger

The spiritual vision of Dom Prosper Guéranger culminated in the primacy and centrality of the sacred liturgy. This succinct and sublime presentation of the prayers and ceremonies of the Latin Mass delivers a surprisingly complete exposition of its theology and spirituality by way of commentary on the texts and gestures of the Tridentine Rite.

The Flame Imperishable

Tolkien, St. Thomas, and the Metaphysics of Faerie

Jonathan S. McIntosh

J.R.R. Tolkien was a profoundly metaphysical thinker; a formative influence on his imagination was the great 13th century theologian, St. Thomas Aquinas. This book follows Aquinas as a guide in laying bare the foundations of many of the themes from Tolkien's legendarium.

The Radiance of Her Face

A Triptych in Honor of Mary Immaculate

Dom Xavier Perrin

"The longing to gaze upon the Immaculate Virgin is not a matter of superficial devotion ... but rather a genuine requirement of Christian contemplation." Alive to the role of material beauty in strengthening our perception of the invisible, Dom Perrin uses the visual language of the "Triptych" to assist our understanding of Mary's role in the divine plan

The Four Friendships

From Aristotle to Aquinas

Kevin Vost

Examines the writings of Aristotle, Cicero, St Aelred and St Thomas on friendship not merely as works of literature or historical curiosities, but as practical guides to help us build, maintain, and enjoy noble friendships of our own—today.

This Our Exile

Short Stories

Joshua Hren

Short stories preoccupied with the eternal questions, incarnating them afresh through the singularities that mark our secular age. Here is a vibrant contribution to contemporary Catholic fiction pinpointing those places in the heart that come into existence only through suffering.

A Catholic Mind Awake

Bernard Kelly

A humble, thoughtful man, Kelly's mind moved with ease through philosophical queries ranging from Europe to India, with a heart at home in contemplative prayer and Christian devotion, and a muse that sang with one of the most remarkable poets of modern English. Both broad in its conspectus and penetrating in its analysis, the present collection thankfully allows this forgotten voice to speak again.

An Economics of Justice and Charity

Catholic Social Teaching, Its Development and Contemporary Relevance

Thomas Storck

A compact, objective summary of the economic teaching of the Popes from Leo XIII to Francis making manifest their inner unity, intended authority, and perennial applicability. It bears witness to the Church's living history of ethical wisdom, care for workers and the poor, and urgent desire to "penetrate and perfect the temporal order with the spirit of the Gospel."

Chinese Humanism and Christian Spirituality

John C.H. Wu

The essays collected here, display the depth and breadth of thought of John C. H. Wu (1899–1986), which led him to the conclusion that the wisdom in all of China's traditions—especially Confucian thought, Taoism, and Buddhism—points to universal truths that originate from, and are fulfilled in, Christ, and that the "marriage" of the East and the West in Christ is the key to a future concordant understanding.

The New Politics of Sex

Stephen Baskerville

Political scientist Stephen Baskerville describes the emergence of a new political ideology, deriving its claims from neither economics nor ethnicity or race, but from the control of sexuality. Essential reading to understand the impact of this not only on the family and other social institutions, but also on government, criminal justice, and the global political environment.
